Professor Dr Felix Kolbeck

Faculty of Tourism, Munich University of Applied Sciences, Germany

Professor Kolbeck is the Dean of the Munich University of Applied Sciences, Faculty of Tourism. Before he came to the University in 2004, Professor Kolbeck had worked for one of the largest Tourism Groups worldwide, the TUI AG in Hannover/Germany. He is experienced in tourism management, controlling, accounting and project management.

From 2007 to 2011, he represented the faculty in the transnational research project ClimAlpTour (Climate change and its impact on tourism in the alpine region), funded by the European Union.

As the Dean, he was responsible for the transition of the former 'diplom' degree programs to new bachelor and master courses from 2005 to 2010. Due to this experience, he has been working internationally on programme accreditations for several accreditation companies in the recent years.

Professor Kolbeck is also involved in consultancies, lectures and projects in the area of climate change impacts on tourism.

Professor Kolbeck is a graduate economist (Diplom-Ökonom) and has a PhD in Political Sciences (Topic: Sustainable Management Systems).

Professor Kolbeck's areas of teaching are:

- Basics of Business Administration in Tourism
- Management of Tourism Groups
- Management Methods
- Airline Management
