

THE-ICE Benchmarking Roundtable Series Presenter Profile

Paul Weeks

Southern Cross University – The Hotel School Sydney

Paul is currently Director of Academic Studies and lecturer at the Hotel School Sydney.

After 20 years managerial experience in hotel, motel and food service organisations, he joined SCU's School of Tourism and Hospitality Management, moving to The Hotel School Sydney in 2000.

Previous and current experience includes instructional design for subjects offered through the School's distance education programs, teaching and development of curricula for management, services management and information technology subjects.

He has co-authored two Australian 'hospitality' industry texts: Club Management, and Managing Convention Businesses.

Research interests include IT in hospitality; education (the role of feedback; technology used by students within private education providers); history of hotels; convention services, and club management.

Paul received an inaugural Vice Chancellor's award for Teaching Excellence, and two subsequent VC's Teaching Awards as a member of two teaching teams. Paul is on the editorial board of the Journal of Hospitality, Leisure, Sport and Tourism Education.
