Australian School of Management (ASM) Melbourne and Digital Campus/MyASM Manager

Dr Ali Abusalem is the Melbourne and Digital Campus/MyASM Manager at ASM. Since 2008, Dr Abusalem has been actively facilitating teaching and learning at Central Queensland University across a number of undergraduate and postgraduate courses. As a senior lecturer, he is responsible for the development of course materials and assessment, conducting classes and course coordination.

Dr Abusalem has also received recognition from the University's leadership including the 2015 Award for Good Practice in Teaching and Learning: Facilitating Student Participation and Success, and the 2014 Student Voice Awards for Distance Education. He has successfully guided the research agendas of numerous Masters and PhD students across a variety of disciplines, to achieve excellent academic outcomes.

Dr Abusalem has a long history of involvement with students from multicultural backgrounds due to his past position as Academic Advisor to the UAE Embassy in Canberra. This position enabled him to gain an extensive experience in international student issues through representational activities, meetings with Australian universities' international students, and conference attendance. He is also a member of the Australian Human Resources Institute (AHRI), the Australian Arabic Council, the Victorian Arabic Social Services and member of the Asian Media Information and Communication Centre. He received Victoria's Award for Excellence in Multicultural Affairs and was nominated for Australian of the Year 2004. Dr Abusalem is very active in presenting cross-cultural seminars to a number of Australian Universities.
