Mr Anthony McClaran

Chief Executive Officer of the Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency (TEQSA)

Anthony McClaran took up the position of Chief Executive Officer of the Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency (TEQSA) on 12 October 2015.

Before joining TEQSA, Anthony was the Chief Executive of the UK's Quality Assurance Agency (QAA) for six years and prior to that the Chief Executive of the UK's national agency for higher education admissions, the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS).

A graduate in English and American Literature from the University of Kent, Anthony began his career at the University of Warwick where, among other posts, he was Admissions Officer. In 1992 he moved to the University of Hull to take up the post of Academic Registrar, with responsibility for an office which included recruitment, admissions, student records, international affairs and academic resource allocation. In 1995 he was appointed Acting Registrar and Secretary.

Anthony was a member of the Board of the European Association for Quality Assurance in Higher Education (ENQA) and is now a co-opted member of the Board of the International Network for Quality Assurance Agencies in Higher Education (INQAAHE). He has held a number of governance roles at all levels of education and was Chair of Council and Pro-Chancellor of the University of Gloucestershire from 2007 to 2009.
