Ms Clare Johnson AIH

Youth Council Chair, Institute of Hospitality, United Kingdom

For the past 5 years, Clare has supported some of the United Kingdom's largest hospitality employers to design and implement apprenticeships and training within their business in order to provide their staff with a supportive environment to grow and nurture their teams through her work as a National Relationship Manager with HIT Training. Born in Northern Ireland, Clare fell in love with hospitality whilst supervising service within the Grand Opera House, Belfast - having her eyes opened to what a diverse and rewarding industry we operate within. Her aims are to chair the Youth Council within the Institute of Hospitality to successfully attract and retain talent to our industry whilst promoting the importance and success of the role of training within our workforce.
