Suzanne Vollenbronck, MA FIND OUT MORE

International Coordinator & Lecturer of English, Breda University of Applied Sciences, The Netherlands

Suzanne Vollenbronck (1976) has been deeply committed to fostering the professional, cultural and personal development of young adults throughout her career. She holds a master's degree in Translation & Interpreting Studies (1999) and a post-graduate degree in Business Communications (2000). After having studied and worked in the USA, Belgium and Spain for 20 years, Suzanne moved back to the Netherlands in 2015, where she currently works as an international coordinator and English teacher at Breda University of Applied Sciences. In these roles she participates in various projects related to international education. It is her goal to help students understand and feel the value of international and intercultural experiences, be it abroad or at home.
